

Love Me Love Me, 2026 - 1/2

Roger Kumble, staring Mia Jenkins, Pepe Barroso, Luca Melucci

After her brother's death, June starts fresh at an Italian elite school. Caught between James, a troubled fighter, and his friend Will, a model student, she learns everyone has secrets as hidden truths emerge.

don't you just love it when movies end (i kid you not, 1 minute) after the biggest climax of the film like that's a completely normal thing booktok names need to be fixed also like please what is June White (nickname snow white) bitch she had blonde hair call her fucking rapunzel was it rly that hard

DOGTOOTH

Dogtooth, 2009 - ★★★★½ ❤

Yorgos Lanthimos, staring Christos Stergioglou, Michele Valley, Angeliki Papoulia
A controlling, manipulative father locks his three adult offspring in a state of perpetual childhood by keeping them prisoner within the sprawling family compound.

Dogtooth is deeply discomforting and darkly comedic. It plays on the ideas of traditional values and family dynamics in a cold and obtuse manner, the incredible, stark cinematography forcing the viewer to sit in a pit of unease. I loved the way this film highlights the importance of language in consciousness and world understanding. Through the manipulation of the "children's" vocabulary by their parents, their concept of the world is completely distorted. Despite the incredible continually unnerving manner of this film, there is a small thread of hope. To any oppressive regime there is always an "outside", an over-the-fence, Jaws. Brilliant film.

Spies Like Us, 1985 - ★★★ ❤

John Landis, staring Chevy Chase, Dan Aykroyd, Mark Stewart

Two bumbling government employees think they are U.S. spies, only to discover that they are actually decoys for Nuclear War.

silly fun that i thought actually did well to avoid sliding into american cold war propaganda and instead mocked the military mindset of the reagan era
